"We are in the midst of a financial hysteria in baseball," said Charley Ebis yesterday in discussing the prevaand so-called immodest demands of some of the stars. "The owners started fever. It was only natural. Big money talk fills the air-and I for one do not blame the players for trying to get "We all try to get the greatest finan-

"In so far as the Brooklyn club is concerned I maintain that we have no holdouts. I do not regard a player as a holdout until he has failed to report at the training camp on the date designated. Our players have been ordered to report to Robbie at Jacksonville next Sunday. Then we will know who is a holdout." crease in salary out of his club. The

If the Squire of Flatbush is to have his entire squad at Jacksonville on Sunday he will have to do some tall signing of players within the next week. The Rube has been traded the Reds, and now the stage may set for Ruether's return to Redland, or Pat Moran needs a lefthander badly.

At the offices of the Giants they also maintain that they have no holdouts. The boys are a little slow with their contracts—that is, some of them—but we expect no trouble," says Jim Tierney. "Still Bancroft, Meusel, Barnes, Douglas, Snyder, Smith, Kelly, Rawlings—eight of 'em by our count—have yet to send in their signed agreements."

Not so many years ago a condition of that sort would have found John Metraw on the road, looking up the boys out in Collinsville, Caseyville, Sioux Palls and way stations. But "Mac" now refuses to become perturbed. He knows that the matter can be adjusted. He neets the players down at the training camp and soon the announcement is sade—a couple of stars have signed. Marquard's coming to the Braves marks the successful close of negotiations which George Grant started last August. Grant felt that the Braves would have done far better had they had a good left hander. In Scott he has given away a fine pitcher—but an eriatic one. Moran may develop Scott's potentiallities, and if he does he will have the better of the deal. In so far as Kopf is concerned, he was through with the Reds anyway and Moran, in sending him to Boston, gave up nobody whom he was very anxious to keep.

Penn State.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 19.—Henry L. "Hinkie" Haines has been appointed assistant football coach at Penn State to succeed R. C. Harlow, who has become head coach at Colgate. This announcement was made to-day by Hugo Bezdek, director of athletics at Penn State.

Bezdek, director of athletics at Penn State.

Haines was graduated from Penn State last June and is a product of the Bezdek school of athletics. Hinkie made a great record in athletics, being a regular for two years in football, baskethall and baseball. In each sport he was a pal of Glenn Killinger and they both rank among the few athletes who have won their varsity letter in three main sports. In his last year Haines was captain of the varsity nine. He entered Penn State in 1918 from Lebanon Valley College and first jumped into prominence on the great

The annual indoor track meet which the New York Athletic Club is holding next Saturday. February 25, at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory promises to be one of the most attractive meets held this winter. The management has done everything possible to secure the entries of Olympic, national, international and local champions and record holders. The chief events are the Buermeyer 500, the Baxter mile and a special 50, 60 and 70 yard dash competition.

harrier of the Mohawk A. C., splashed through the streets of Harlem to a well carned victory in the five and a half mile road race of the Morningside A. C. yesterday. Harvey Frick of the Glencoe A. C. was second, fifty yards back. He beat Harry Parkinson of the Morningside A. C. for the place by forty yards. Eleven runners took part in the race, which was an invitation affair, with all competitors starting from scratch. Every contestant completed the full distance, the course including territory extending from the club house, in West 128th street, east to St. Nicholas avenue, across the 155th street bridge and down Seventh avenue to the starting point. Parkinson, who has scored many victories in road races and cross-country runs during his athletic career, which dates back to 1905, set out to make the pace. He dashed along at a good, brisk gait, and soon had a commanding lead. Up to the five mile mark he looked all over a winner. His early efforts took a lot out of him, and he had little left for the final dash. He weakened so much in the next 200 yards that he was unable to offer much resistance when Dwyer challenged in the final quarter mile. Dwyer stepped to the front 200 yards from the tape and remained there to the end. Frick caught the tring Parkinson in the final 100 yards. The order of the finish follows:

The weekly handicap road run closed to members of the Brooklyn A. A., held yesterday afternoon over the King's Highway course, resulted in an easy victory for William Murray, who started from the one minute mark and finished in 22 minutes 52 seconds. The distance was about four and a quarter miles. Harvey Litchenstein, the lone scratch man, ran an excellent race and finished second, about 250 yards back. Sam Hoffman was a distant third. There's many a youngster fresh from camp Could knock a champion dead But for the wisdom that the champ Has stored within his head.

DAVE SHADE.

Dave Shade, the Californian, who was given a draw with Jack Britton, and whose speed made the champion miss more than we ever remember to have seen him miss, is a mighty likable youngster. He and his father came to New York a few months before the bout at the Garden and secured living quarters near Central Park. Shade did most of his road work in the park itself and first started jogging along the bridle paths. A park policeman saw him. "Hey!" he yelled at him. "Come offa that! You know better than to run there."

"But I didn't," said Shade. "I'm just in from California."

"We'll," said the policeman, "it's all right this once; but you are busting a park regulation, and don't do it again."

We'll bet that a lot of persons who have lived in New York all their lives didn't know any more about that regulation than Shade did.

The Motor Boat Show at the Grand Central Palace will belp the Red Cross to-day by raising money for the uber-culosis fund. On Saturday at the show more than 1,500 visitors boarded and inspected the 54 foot cruiser exhibited by the Elco works. This is the largest boat ever exhibited in a show building, and weighs more than 25,000 pounds. All day long there was a line of those waiting to get on board that extended far from the gangway. Of course only a few can go on board at one time. Henry R. Sutphen, president of the

One of the most interested spectators at the Britton-Shade bout was Garry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Reds. He didn't look as if he was worrying any about Eddie Roush. Perhaps it was because he had just signed George Burns to a two year contract, far from the gangway. Of course only a few can go on board at one time. Henry R, Sutphen, president of the National Association of Engine and Boat Builders and who is responsible for the Elco exhibit, thought it might be a good thing to make a small charge to wisit the yacht and turn the proceeds over to some worthy charity. It was decided that to-day all the proceeds from this yacht should be given to the Red Cross tuberculosis fund, and representatives of the Red Cross will be on hand to conduct the exhibition. The charge will be nominal. To get on board the yacht and inspect its well arranged cabins, galley, staterooms, &c., will corr a Peace dollar or as many silver dollars as one cares to give, and the entire receipts from this will be turned over at once to the Red Cross.

Power Boat Union Meeting

Power Boat Union Meeting.

The annual meeting of the International Power Boat Union will be held at the Motor Boat Show to-day, and it will be the first of a number of meetings that will occupy the attention of the exhibitors during the week. At this meeting action will be taken on the tentative schedule of racing dates for the midwest regattas next summer. To-morrow will be Buffalo day and a large contingent of yachtsmen from that city have planned to visit the show, where they will be received by an advance guard, which includes Charles A, Criqui and Arthur J. Utz. Buffalo is now a very strong motor boat racing center, and some of the big racing events are to be decided there next season. To-morrow the Society of Automotive Engineers has arranged for a conference in the morning at the Commodore to be followed by a luncheon.

Ing at the Commodore to be followed by a luncheon.

The competitions for school boys will also begin to-day. The boys are asked to enter two of these and many prizes have been donated by some of the exhibitors. That the boys of this city are taking a big interest in boats, boat building and boat sailing is evidenced by the exhibition of the Bureau of Vocational Activities, Manual Training Department, Public Schools. A work show has been set up on the mezzanine floor and the boys and their instructors are showing how they build boats. Many very attractive models have been built and rigged, and these represent all types of yachts. Some have the so-called Marcont rig with curved masts, others are rigged with club topsails. Some are fin keel hulls and others good, wholesome cruising types. The boys who built these models have shown remarkable skill and thoroughly understand how to follow the lines as shown in the construction plans.

One competition will last all the week. The boys are to write 150 words on one of two topics suggested. These are. "What impressed me most at the Motor Boat Show" or "The boat I liked best at the Motor Boat Show." Each article must have the name of the writer, his address, age and school he attendathese articles may be left at the show in the educational section or sent by mail.

The other is a knot tieing contest. The First Battalion Naval Militia has in its exhibition a board showing some of the simple but serviceable knots. The box-may study these during the week and may get instruction about tieing them. On Friday the contest will begin and bofinished on Saturday. Henry Sampson Jr., who acts as official timer for all the his powered boat races, is to be refered.

The last of the exhibits will arrive this morning. It is a Lawley rundout which got sidetracked in some way continue from Poston.

which got soleracted in some way con-ing from Boston.

The display of sail boats this year is a good one. It is rather an innovation to make such a feature of sailing craft at the Motor Boat Show, but the management appreciates that the show must be broadened and that it should include everything that has to do water.
